While the technology will showcase itself on the pitch in episodic FIFA tournaments this season, FIFA 22 allows you to test its power with numerous pre-release on-line demo tournaments, which will allow fans to see the in-game variety of HyperMotion, compared to both the current and prior FIFA titles. One demo tournament will run for a full hour, giving players a taste of the challenge they can expect from the game. Other new features and enhancements in FIFA 22 include: Thanks to Player Impact Engine, players will feel the impact of every ball – just as the opposition, opponents and even teammates will feel it. Players' FIFA instincts are vital to their success as they play the new, more reactive game more intelligently. The technical player is also rewarded as each game evolves. At the top level, the new Player Impact Engine will lead to the most realistic passing and dribbling ever in FIFA. FIFA 22 introduces the new Rush Game Engine to create explosive, ground-breaking balls moves, such as the Cruyff Turn and the 'kicking of the ball'. This will allow players to have more control over each and every aspect of their game. FIFA 22 introduces the state-of-the-art crowd. Whether you are enjoying a game in front of a TV with family and friends, or across the globe, an all-new crowd experience will provide a fresh, live encounter each time you take to the pitch. FIFA 22 will be available in late August 2014 for the Xbox 360® video game and entertainment system, PlayStation®3 computer entertainment system, PlayStation®Vita handheld entertainment system and Wii U™ system. FIFA 22 is supported by EA SPORTS Season Ticket and a-la-carte purchases available on Origin, the largest digital gaming network with more than 20 million registered users and strong partnerships with Xbox Live, PlayStation Network and Nintendo eShop.
