The Ghost Recon: Future Soldier Å .Q: Downloading a file containing special chars through HttpContext.Current.Response (Laravel) In Laravel 5.2 I have the following code which will download a file: $headers = \Response::create(404)->header("Content-Type", "text/html; charset=UTF-8"); $headers->setContent("File not found", 404); $output = \Storage::disk('public')->get('test.html'); return \Response::download($output, $filename); And all I get is the data string of the file and the special chars are not converted into their equivalent HTML entities. I also tried the following: $headers = \Response::create(404)->header('Content-type', 'text/html; charset=UTF-8'); $output = \Storage::disk('public')->get('test.html'); return \Response::download($output, $filename); but it only outputs the file name. What am I missing? How can I make Laravel download and render my file with all special chars converted to their HTML entities? A: Try specifying the charset to utf-8: $headers = \Response::create(404)->header('Content-type', 'text/html; charset=UTF-8'); If that doesn't work, see here for a list of character sets: e.g

A: This problem usually happens when you use an older version of Java in the PC's browser. In this particular case the problem probably came from the Java 7 browser browser. You can try to do this in order to fix the problem: Fix Java 7-JRE 1. Locate the file called jre7 on your computer. I assume that you have Windows 7 or Windows 8. In your desktop area, right click and open command prompt or the equivalent.

2. At the command prompt, enter the following command as shown in the figure. The command can be changed according to your Windows. `java -version` Then you can see if the Java 7-JRE is present on the computer.

Windows `cd C:\Program Files\Java\jre7` If Java 7-JRE is not available, download it from the website here. After downloading, extract the file using 7-zip. Note: If you have version of Java 8 or higher installed, don't update Java 7-JRE. Instead, uninstall it. This may solve the problem.

Java 8 Browser Fix For Java 8, use this solution. Java 8 Java Runtime Environment Download Note: Java 8-JRE should be installed before you use the browser. I don't know how you did that. But I think you should try to download the Java 8 browser from here. It should be compatible. Note: The methods above is the old way. The new way is using Java 8 Updates site. Please follow these directions carefully.

just a simple question.. i want to convert rar files in bittorent. i install todo application from play store, it works well. but it not work properly. Thanks,Why don't you try a simple test of downloading and unrar a file? For example, to unrar the archive firefox -> go to the URL this will download a file called unrar-rar-1.7.0.txt. Now right-click the file, and select "extract here". It'll extract the file to your phone/sd card. Try a few files to make sure it worked. I have not used this site previously, but it should work as advertised. That was a silly question. It's the whole reason we're all here. if you want to download the crack/patch or update from another site, then you have to do some research first... otherwise you'll "just download it". you'll just waste you time here, and have an empty wallet. Hmmmm, I thought he got his key off of a site that showed his key... or he asked you where to find it already. Hmmmm, we can't leave any stone unturned, how about you start a thread of this is the site he got the crack from, link the problem please. Click to expand... Is he registered to post (I thought he was) what if your using chrome? google chrome on android makes it hard to add the extension, you need to move the app out of the app drawer and add it there... not sure if they block that method. otherwise I agree. I found that todo was the best Click to expand... I found it from the Webdownlod application from the Play store. Never used todo. This is the file I used: Click to expand... I think he got this using a cracked version that is below the latest version in the market. There are 3 possible files and he got the wrong one. I think he should have downloaded the most recent version of todo, or uninstall it altogether and then re-install it. He should have downloaded the version I provided him on this thread, not the cracked version.
