Indie Developer Kaiju Games Wins Best Animation Award At The Game Awards [VIDEO] Kaiju Games won the best animation award at the 2018 Game Awards. Watch a clip from the award-winning animation short below. For the uninitiated, Game Awards are an annual celebration of the best games of the previous year. Some of the games featured in this celebration of the best games of the year are Untitled Goose Game, Yandere Simulator, and Firewatch. Kaiju Games' short for the 2017 Game Awards was one of the most memorable, as it featured The Last of Us: Left Behind. Right after the 2018 awards, Kaiju Games released a video to show off the five winners for the award. You can find that video here. Gameplay Fans of Yandere Simulator are certain to enjoy this game, as it gives players the chance to control Nindo. Nindo is a character who plans on killing her students by the end of the year, and she is rather obsessive about her job. As you can tell from the gameplay, Nindo is a really devious character, as she has the ability to manipulate people into doing her bidding and even trick them into killing themselves. She can also do things like lock her students in a garage, jump from the second floor to the third, and even set their hair on fire. Nindo can also be a silent killer, as she can control other people and even kill their friends by slipping a tainted candy into their mouth.
