Available packages > Available versions Q: Can I set my Action filter to be only triggered for a particular action name? I have an action filter which handles all requests to a particular controller:

public class MyFilter: ActionFilterAttribute { public override void OnActionExecuting(ActionExecutingContext filterContext) { base.OnActionExecuting(filterContext); } } Instead of duplicating the logic in this filter for all actions in all controllers, is there a way to make this filter only run for particular action names? A: Set the action method to be a method of a controller: public class MyFilter: ActionFilterAttribute { public override void OnActionExecuting(ActionExecutingContext filterContext) { if (filterContext.Controller.GetType() == typeof(MyController) && filterContext.ActionName == "MyAction") { // Do stuff here } base.OnActionExecuting(filterContext); } } 0.1. Introduction {#s0005}

Its etiology remains unknown, but there are several factors such as autoimmune, genetic, diet, viral, and environmental exposures, and infection that have been implicated as causative.
