References Category:Disc golfQ: Why is the proof that the second derivative of $f(x) = x^4$? I'm not very good at analyzing functions. The derivatives of $f(x) = x^4$ is: $f(x) = 4x^3$. So the second derivative would be $f''(x) = 12x^2$ and the third derivative is $f^{(3)}(x) = 24x$ The first derivative is $f'(x) = 4x^3$ and we say that $f''(x) = 12x^2$ and $f^{(3)}(x) = 24x$. Why are we able to say that $f''(x) = f'(x)$? Why is the proof that:
$$f''(x) = 12x^2 \\ f''(x) = 12x \cdot x \\ f''(x) = f'(x)$$
 Thanks! A: $f(x) = x^4$ $f'(x) = 4x^3$ $f''(x) = 12x^2$ $f'''(x) = 24x$ $f^{(4)}(x) = 24$ this is A Feat of Strength

The assessment and classification of neuropsychological deficits have a major contribution in the early diagnosis of subclinical central nervous system involvement. We have studied the neuropsychological profile in 42 patients with systemic sclerosis (SS) and divided them into three groups: 18 patients with peripheral involvement, 18 patients with central nervous system involvement and 6 patients with involvement of both organs. What's new:

Rakitin Victor Nikolaievich Rakitin (; 1851-1923) was a Russian theatre director who worked in St. Petersburg and Moscow theatres. A strong proponent of the new realism in Russian theatre, he played an important role in the Russian theatre in the second decade of 20th century. Biography Early years Rakitin was born in Kharkiv. In the course of the Russo-Turkish War (1877-1878), he graduated from military high school. At the age of twenty-three he became a student in the Count Leo Tolstoy's Brotherhood of Tolstoyans. He was fascinated with Tatlin's project of The Monument. It was here that his career as a stage director began. He was to give five performances of one of Tatlin's designs, in order to test the effect of this visionary constructivist art. Career After an attempt to become an actor, Rakitin was engaged as a stage director in Karl Gartenberg's theatrical troupe in St. Petersburg in 1884. From 1895 to 1900, he was associated with Rublev Theatre as an assistant director and dramaturg. In Moscow, he was director-general of the Plekhanov Studios for a brief time in the 1890s. This was an organization that trained naive schoolboys and young men, mainly from the poorer strata of society, into stage actors. It was briefly headed by the anti-Menshevik agitator Nikolai Chernyshevsky, and the most famous of its pupils were Lev Narsky and Konstantin Stanislavski. The Lyceum (named after the Neoclassical Academy of Musical Culture) was founded in 1883 by Pyotr Rymarevich; it included a school, a theatre and a pharmacy, and Rakitin taught at the pharmacy. Rakitin's teachers at this venue were Mihail Bakhtin (then A. I. Grigoryevsky), and Vladimir Makogon. The Ballet In 1903, he was entrusted with the creation of a ballet troupe that was to replace the ballet of the recently disbanded

Nihilist club. Due to the disappearance of the latter, he had to find artists who would become professional dancers and choreographers. This troupe was called The Ballet and had performers whose names included: Vera Galaktova, Pavel Yesaulka (a ballet

Also, does not the universe as a whole seem really, really busy even for a preteen, even if it's only relating to the Earth and the Solar System? This sure is a cram session for someone who mentions it once, as for the rest, well, it is what it is. But I did enjoy it. And yes, the solar system being so visually represented could also mean people only have a few things to notice about it. For the life of me I do not understand what's so problematic about having pictures of the Moon and Mars as the backdrop to the talk. Maybe it's just me but I think they're quite awesome-looking. To
