What's New In PicLord Tool?

PicLord is a handy and reliable program designed to capture the activity on your desktop by taking screenshots. Two capturing modes are available: full screen, which takes a picture of everything on your desktop or area selection, which allows you to capture details. The built-in timer serves to automatically take screenshots at a user-defined interval. The following options are available: Capture Area: If the program starts, a window appears with all the areas of the screen you select. This area can be a full screen, a window (provided that it is on the screen) or any area of the screen you specify. Capture Mode: Available modes are Full Screen, Window or Region. Capture Timer: Set time intervals for taking screenshots. Export: Exports images in a format selected by the user. Export formats are text, bitmap, BMP, GIF, JPEG, JPG, PCX, PNG, TIFF and WMF. Notes about the exported format: - Export formats are listed in PicLord.ini: - The "Resolution" field is a bitfield. 1=1000 4=2560 8=3840 16=7680 32=15360 - The "Aspect Ratio" field is the resolution in pixels divided by height. The resolution is specified in the method of the pixel size (example: 800x600 pixel with aspect ratio 8). - If the "Aspect Ratio" field is equal to 1, the pixel size is specified in the "Resolution" field. - If the "Aspect Ratio" field is equal to the "Resolution" field (for instance "8x6 = 8"), the aspect ratio is constant. Advanced: - Export all windows as scaled: this allows you to preserve all the details and effects of the screen. - Export selected columns: as in the above-mentioned Export function. - Export selection of non-enabled windows: as in the above-mentioned Export function. - Export selection of minimized windows: as in the above-mentioned Export function. - Export not minimized windows: as in the above-mentioned Export function. The program is easy to use, as shown in the above-mentioned Export function. In order to save you a little time receiving bugs and problems, PicLord Tool has been designed to find and report bugs automatically when you test it. Therefore,
