Effects of insecticides on phospholipase D activity in the bovine mammary gland. Previously we have shown that phospholipase D (PLD) from the bovine mammary gland catalyzes the production of phosphatidylcholine (PC) in the presence of diolein. The objective of the present study was to investigate the effects of insecticides on phosphatidylethanol (PEt) production in vitro. Lipase activity was measured in milk from cattle treated with cyclamate, DDT, diazinon, fenthion, beta-cypermethrin, aldicarb and methiocarb. Lipase activity was significantly elevated by all insecticides after treatment with beta-cypermethrin and fenthion. Cyclamate caused a significant decrease in phospholipase A (PLA) activity but not in phospholipase C (PLC) activity. No effect was observed on PLC activity or PLA activity in milk from cattle treated with methiocarb.

Q: $2^2=2$ vs 2^2+2 notation for graphs and graphs with 2 -avalanches It is standard (or at least frequent) notation to write $2^2=2$ as an equation for graphs like this: It seems that sometimes an exponent can be written in the same way, e.g. for the edges of a clique of order 2^2 , as follows: Other ways to write the same equation exist. For instance, using addition: A: I cannot comment, but I am adding this as an answer, not as a comment, since it is too long for that; also, this is a difficult question to answer since it would be (probably) too large a topic for an answer here. However, I hope it helps. I will preface this with the statement that I am not an expert at graph theory, and could be missing some subtle differences in the interpretations that other people have put on this. Why I think this notation can be confusing is, first of all, because it is not a self-explanatory notation, and neither is it intuitive. One of the biggest problems with this notation is that it is ambiguous. However, I think it is possible to have some sort of more rigorous and/or semantically rigorous definition of what is being represented by this notation.
