I moved into the operating room and it was complete chaos.Q: how to give permission for specific app to read/write only database? I want to store a json data in sqLite database of android. I have used this code to store data: public void createorUpdateDB(String Title,String Description) { String fullTable = "dataset"; SQLiteDatabase db = this.getReadableDatabase(); ContentValues values = new ContentValues(); values.put("title", Title); values.put("description", Description); // Inserting Row db.insert(fullTable, null, values); db.close(); } I want to give permission to this app "com.sam.test" to read and write only its database. A: To achieve this Make a table in DB named "user_read_permission" Add a column named "permission_read" set to true or false Add a trigger to the table named "trig_user_read_permission" CREATE TABLE IF NOT EXISTS user_read_permission(permission_read boolean); INSERT INTO user_read_permission VALUES(true); CREATE TRIGGER trig_user_read_permission AFTER INSERT ON user_read_permission BEGIN IF (NEW.permission_read = true) THEN RAISE NOTICE'User %, permission read ', NEW.user_id; END IF; END; Query like this: SELECT permission_read FROM user_read_permission WHERE user_id = 1234; General pathways of the acid-induced cell death in the root cortex of sugar beet (Beta vulgaris L.).
