In fact, after having a new baby, all of my hair simply takes a few minutes of flat ironing every morning. However, I usually need to make sure my hair is in its' best shape for the day. So I keep it slightly damp for the most part. But what if I don't have access to a flat iron? Is there anything else I can use to do a good flat iron? Is there a trick to getting it to work? All of the flat irons I have (both the "new" flat irons and those i've had for years) don't heat up fast enough for my liking. And when I try to use a blow dryer, it tends to set my hair in an extremely frizzy style. So what can I do to start heating up my hair a little faster so that I can curl it afterward? Tips for a good flat iron: Does it Heat up fast? Does it Heat the hair evenly? Is it easy to use? Is it comfortable to use? Are there any warranties? Is it replaceable? What is the weight? Is it easy

[A case of thymoma with the association of multiple lung metastases on the first detection of thymoma]. We report a case of thymoma with multiple lung metastases on the first detection of thymoma. A 63-year-old woman was referred to our hospital for a chest X-ray film, which revealed the metastases in both lungs. Since her symptoms were not related to the primary tumor, she did not have any physical examination results for the chest. Chest X-ray film revealed multiple nodular shadows in both lung fields, and computed tomography (CT) revealed a large mass, measuring 11 cm in diameter in the anterior mediastinum. A histological diagnosis of thymoma was made following resection of the mediastinal tumor and multiple lung metastases.Q: What does this line of code mean? What does this line of code mean? (except (qid, desc, rec, type, at, flags, fd, path)) I've been helping my friend on this code, he says that it's used to sort out some of the integer variables. A: It's a list comprehension, which allows you to concisely perform an operation on the elements of a list: mylist = [2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14] [x for x in mylist if x % 2 == 0] # [2, 4, 6, 10] A: If you are using Python 2: [x for x in collection if condition] For example [x for x in range(1, 10000) if x % 10] # [1, 11, 21, 31, 41, 51, 61, 71, 81, 91] Note that the generator expression returns an iterable, not a list. To be more specific, it is a list that contains the elements of the collection when the condition is true, and an empty list otherwise. Also, you can also create a list (in Python 2) with list comprehension using this syntax: [[x for x in collection if condition]] With Python 3: [x for x in collection if condition] Similar to what the above does, except it returns a list, instead of an iterable. A: The biggest mistake people make with list comprehension is thinking it does
