With it, you have the ability to add and remove programs, run them and do other tasks. In case you are wondering what an installer consists of, let us show you: If you open the "My Computer" or "Computer" tab in Windows and you search for a program called Windows Installer, you will be able to see several new things in the list. If you want to use other things instead of Windows Installer, you can simply remove its page from the "My Computer" or "Computer" tab and install new programs through a software called the Windows Installer.
