* The puzzle involves laying out and fitting together a variety of randomly selected pictures; * The picture you are trying to assemble is over 50 pieces long, and you have to fit it together by itself, without using neighboring pieces; * You are able to place new pieces on the grid - if you want to - when one piece becomes overlapping with another; * Starting pieces are all of various types and sizes and may or may not need to be cut out of their shape by hand; * When pieces are added, the grid will often look a bit messy and you won't have enough space for everything at first; * You have to make an excellent guess to find the correct positions of the pieces in the grid; * While the puzzle does not have any visual indication on where to find the next piece - your own intuition and experience is the only indicator, therefore it might be necessary to think and look at the image for a moment before adding the next piece; * Getting everything lined up and working together is what's truly challenging about the puzzle; * Make sure that all pieces are oriented properly, with the overall proper arrangement of the image in mind; * No additional instructions to help you with the solution are included in the game; * The overall time spent on solving a puzzle is unknown.
