"I am a firm believer in hard work," she said. "Without hard work, I don't think you can achieve the things you want to achieve. I think if you put your mind to it you can achieve your goals." Irene said she felt she had a good feeling about her new job. "I love my job; I love the people I work with. They are all a delight to me. Also, I like learning new things and learning new places. I am looking forward to going on a trip to France when I am qualified as an auto glass installer." Everyone else who spoke at the ceremony shared their thoughts on what going to work meant to them. Several thanked their spouses for their patience and understanding while they worked toward their goals. Beth thanked her husband for his hard work, as well as her family and her team at the plant, saying that their patience and understanding are what made their company successful. "When I started here I never thought that I could make it in this job," she added. "But I just kept going and going. I thought, 'Beth, you can make it. Just don't give up.' I want to thank everybody for their help and encouragement. I am so glad to see we have so many jobs here." Rick said he hoped to make a difference in the world, in more ways than one. "I'm looking to make a difference in the world. I want to make a difference for the people that I work with. I want to make a difference in the community. And I want to see how I can make a difference for my family and my son. I believe in it, and that's why I'm here. I want to make a difference in my life

Results of the survey of the inheritance of spina bifida in the town of Vaduz (population 36000 inhabitants) from 1948 to 1980 are presented. The study is based on the analysis of data of 132 family trees. Cases of spina bifida observed during the study period (1948-1980) were selected. The present incidence is 1.26 per 1000 live births. In view of the breeding practices which are still prevalent, this frequency is only a small contribution to the global birth incidence of 1.42 per 1000 live births. Spina bifida is a complex trait which is influenced by multifactorial factors. This makes the assignment of a single factor as being the cause of spina bifida difficult and nearly impossible. The study makes some considerations on the hereditary character of the disease. The importance of these findings is in the observation of an elevated incidence of spina bifida in the second- and the third-generation relatives of patients with the disease. This points to the gene as being the underlying factor.Image courtesy of Matthew Corpet/Enter The Dragon Chinese box office hit The Mermaid has recently surpassed its European sales milestone and is continuing on to the US box office with hopes of breaking into the top ten, where it can hold
