of chemokine receptors in human corneal cells: evidence for distinct, differential expression of CXCR3 in lipid raft microdomains. To determine whether CXCR3 is associated with lipid rafts in human corneal cells and to compare chemokine receptor expression in cells isolated from the central nervous system and the peripheral nervous system. Specific binding experiments were performed with radiolabeled human CXC chemokines. Heterologous expression of fluorescently tagged chemokine receptors in cultured corneal cells was used to determine receptor colocalization with caveolin-1. In addition, expression of CXC chemokine receptors in cells isolated from the central nervous system and the peripheral nervous system was compared. CXCR3 was identified as a major chemokine receptor in human corneal epithelial cells. CXCR3 colocalized with caveolin-1 in lipid rafts and was expressed on membrane microvilli. SDF-1alpha, macrophage inflammatory protein-3alpha and thymus and activation regulated chemokine-1alpha, which signal through CXCR4, all colocalized with caveolin-1 in lipid rafts of corneal epithelial cells. CXCR3 was also detected in cells from the central nervous system and the peripheral nervous system. CXCR3 was highly enriched in neurons from the peripheral nervous system, along with CXCR2, compared to less abundant expression of CXCR4, CCR5, CCR7, and CCR9. More modest expression of C d0c515b9f4 are many files i can play on my computer such as: . . Q: Cannot contact Direct3D Renderer via Python I'm writing a Python DLL and attempting to contact Direct3D so I can render a texture onto the screen via OpenGL. I've managed to get OpenGL to render correctly, but I can't seem to retrieve a pointer to the Direct3D render object. I've stepped through and set the IDirect3DDeviceManager9 pointer correctly in my DLL, so I know it's at least there. However, when I query this pointer in Python, it returns NULL. Here's the code I'm using for that: def _opengl_init(self): self.ctx = wgl.CreateContext() print(wgl.GetCurrentDC()) gl = wgl.wgl.wglGetCurrentContext() self.ctx.MakeCurrent(gl) self.p_d3d = wgl.wgl.wglGetProcAddress('d3d9') self.p_d3d2 = wgl.wgl.wglGetProcAddress('d3d9') self.p_d3d3 = wgl.wgl.wglGetProcAddress('d3d9') print(wgl.wgl.wglGetCurrentContext()) def _opengl_shutdown(self): wgl.wgl.wglMakeCurrent(self.ctx, None) wgl.wgl.wglDeleteContext(self.ctx) self.p_d3d3 = None self.p_d3d = None self.p_d3d2 = None self.p_d3d = None self.ctx = None def _opengl_render(self): print(wgl.wgl.wglGetCurrentContext())
