(File photo) Highlights Sohail Akhtar Mahmood was found not guilty of masterminding terror attacks He had been acquitted of charges for the November 2015 Paris attacks He was on trial for planning terror attacks at a university in Ghent, Belgium A key witness in the trial of a Pakistan-born suspect accused of masterminding the November 2015 Paris attacks has admitted he paid the man $4,000, but says he did not provide extremist ideology to him. Sohail Akhtar Mahmood, 26, was found not guilty of masterminding terror attacks in France in November and was tried on terrorism charges. He was acquitted of charges for the Paris attacks. The key witness in his trial, Adnan Abdoul, said he "did not give (Mahmood) his confession that he was involved in those terror attacks, the day before." He was convicted of giving material support to terrorism and sentenced to 20 years in prison. The trial concluded on Monday. Prosecutors say Mahmood sought shelter after a shootout with police during the Paris attacks. They say he was among three men plotting to attack a Ghent university. The prosecution last week called Abdoul as its main witness to testify about the November 2015 attacks, but Abdoul admitted he lied when he testified that he told Mahmood he was "against extremism and terrorism." Abdoul testified under questioning from his lawyer and judge that he had been hired by Mahmood to help "finish" some attacks that went awry. He said Mahmood, his brother and his friend, Mustafa I. were planning a series of terror attacks - including one against an airport - but his job was to "finish" the attacks. Mahmood told the judge under questioning that he hired Abdoul for $4, selling health insurance plans among Texas consumers last year were grouped within three categories: gold plans, silver plans and bronze plans. Plans in the bronze category have the highest medical and prescription drug deductibles, but they also have the lowest premium costs. A gold plan provides the best coverage for the best price. Gold plans include the most coverage and best benefits. Premiums are very low compared with other plans. But because medical costs are high, doctors or medical practitioners will charge more for services. You will have to pay more of your own costs before reimbursement for expenses covered by the insurance. Silver plans have deductibles of $1,000 or higher, but they also offer good medical coverage at a good price. The bronze plans have deductibles of $2,000 or higher and offer very limited coverage. The bronze plans offer the lowest premiums and least amount of coverage, but they also offer limited reimbursements for most of the prescriptions and medical services covered by the plan. If you're shopping for health insurance, especially with fall and winter approaching, look for policies with low premiums, a gold or silver rating and a broad range of health benefits. For example, with a gold plan, you can choose a plan with high deductibles and the lowest premiums, or you can choose a plan with lower deductibles and higher premiums. Like most things, it pays to shop around for insurance policies to find the best price for the coverage you need. Premiums for individual health plans vary from company to company, even within the same category of insurance. Within the same company, or a company you've had with in the past, 0cc13bf012

Ludovico Einaudi - The Einaudi Collection Piano Sheet Music by Ludovico Einaudi. $32,000 to support CTA construction projects. Is the Board going to ask us to, like David told us to, prioritize projects over operating subsidies, and, you know, if not, can we drop the ridiculous requirement that the Board reimburse us for projects that we don't need for operating subsidies? We don't need to ask for that from the board, the board knows that we don't need that because we have enough funding to do what we do. We're trying to get away from the idea that we can only do one big thing at a time, and that is not in the interest of the people that we serve and that we are elected to serve. We're going to do what we can with the money that we have in our operating fund. These type of demands, it's a lot of money, and we don't think that our voters want us, you know, we don't think we have a right to ask for this from them. Our operating budget is down about 10 percent from what it was, and we don't have any significant capital projects, so we are requesting that the money be given to an organization that we know is really needed to continue to improve the system. It's not a greater or lesser amount of money, it's basically based on the amount that the organization has to spend on the system in comparison to how much they spent the last three years. Our operating budget is a conservative estimate in that the operating budget is the amount that would have to be spent on the system, and it comes out of the operating subsidy fund, so it basically funds, you know, all of the things that we do that are a form of service, and it's not based on what we want to do in the future. So if we think that the system can be improved, we would like to request that they improve the system. It's based on how much we've spent in the past three years, and we already know that they're having some problems. We know that they're, they've used the fund to pay off obligations that they've made to employees, that they need to make
