Based on Operation Charnwood, this campaign combines historical missions flown by the No. 97 and No. 6 Squadrons in support of the breakout by the allies at the Western end of the Normandy campaign. Take your P-51D Mustang on a real mission in this historical campaign (June 1944), recreate missions that occurred during Operation Charnwood and decide for yourself what events led to the eventual capture of Caen. Approach to a target can be performed from all sides, and is dictated by the ground situation and local weather conditions, as well as the availability of friendly flak suppression. With a wide variety of mission types and difficulty levels, the campaign covers a range of challenges, including Gunnery, Ground Attack, and ground Interdiction missions. Key Features: 12 Historic Missions Detailed briefings and briefing images Unique kneeboard graphics Hundreds of specially recorded voice-over messages to recreate the actual callsigns and accents A wide array of missions included armed reconnaissance, rail interdiction, and ground attack Takes advantage of new AI features like Flak avoidance, authentic formations, and improve artificial intelligence for air and ground units This campaign requires: DCS: P-51D Mustang DCS: Normandy 1944 Map DCS: World War II Assets Pack This product requires the Beta version of DCS World. In order to install DCS World 2.1.1 Beta, please select to install the openalpha version from your Steam Library / Properties / BETAS window. From the "select the beta you would like to opt into:" drop down, please select the openalpha – Public alpha versions (2.x). Please note that European language subtitles are not available in this version. The P-51D Mustang is the successor of the P-51B, and the older version of the Mustang. The Grumman Mustang was developed as the US Army Air Corps' answer to the Messerschmitt Bf-109; by adding more armor, some armament, and a stronger engine, the Mustang out performed the Bf-109 in every respect, and became the most advanced aircraft at a time when the Germans were just beginning to develop their own jet fighters. This aircraft is the most successful US fighter that served during WWII. Early Mustangs were rushed into service in late 1942, and proved to be excellent, and well-suited to their intended purpose as a modern fighter interceptor. Many thought of it as an old airframe with a

The medicinal mushroom Aspergillus niger produces valuable bioactive secondary metabolites. This study was conducted to isolate the bioactive components from the ethyl acetate extract of A. niger, and then to explore their anti-inflammatory properties in animal experimental models. The anti-inflammatory activities of rosmarinic acid were investigated using animal models of bronchial asthma. It was found that intraperitoneal (i.p.) rosmarinic acid at the dose of 20 mg/kg was able to significantly inhibit the airway hyperresponsiveness (AHR) to methacholine in ovalbumin (OVA)-sensitized mice, and the size of the acute and chronic allergic periorbital oedema induced by 10% w/v aqueous emulsion of

The official soundtrack to the combat bullet hell game MAIDEN & SPELL. Unlike other fighting games where a player chooses a character, MAIDEN & SPELL is a character based game. The world where MAIDEN & SPELL takes place is a fictional one where witches and magicians rule the continent. Umi, a young girl with a love of mysteries and adventure, has suffered from a mysterious illness that has left her with no memory of her past. Umi may have no memory of her past, but that doesn't mean she can't prove her worth as a fighting wizard. Play as Umi in a combat bullet hell inspired by the genre. Confront powerful enemies and fight against their minions. Fight enemies that are shaped like demons, spells, demons, dragons, gods, and more. The music of the game is arranged to fit the scenarios of the fight. If you are interested in music, this is a must buy! Reviews: Maiden & Spell is a beautiful, fantastic-looking game. It has a very high polygon count for a fighting game. It has an 8-bit art style that looks like it was pulled directly out of the NES library. Each character has a unique color palette that makes them feel like their are taken right out of a video game. The action feels like it's being played at a fast pace, with simple controls that are easy to pick up, but hard to master. The music of the game is very fitting to the game. Each fight has music that goes with the scenario, making the action feel like you are a real character in a game. Like the video game, the music varies dramatically from minigame to minigame. Overall, Maiden & Spell is an incredibly fun and beautiful fighting game. The game is recommended to those who like fighting games, or for those who want to try something different. This is one of those games that just stands on its own. When it came out, I thought "why not see what this is about before giving it a try"? Long story short, if you are considering buying it and are wondering if you should or if you should try it out before buying, I would say go ahead and buy it, because there's really no way you are going to go wrong. You think this is a double review? I'd like to point out that I

| Death Knight Posts: 2,689 Location: England, United Kingdom (UK) Re: Re: Ignis Iratus - Game Designer Haha that is awesome. I actually programmed an engine (just so that I could see what it was like) which was based on the game titles - monsters attack, level goes up, the player battles, they can move in the next level etc... It really did look pretty awesome. Unfortunately, I didn't even try to make any graphics so it didn't look very nice; will be interesting to see how that engine would handle it :D So, basically, would be a cool feature, only anyone would need to wait until a modder alters the graphics and/or writes this into the engine. And of course: Yes, I will be doing it in game as well, and it will definitely be done, I'm just really busy with a lot of other things too haha... @Fuzzy We're back again. Now, regarding reading and half reading of our own sentences, i'll be the first to admit I didn't even check to be sure the link worked - and now I'm wondering if I'm blocked from editing for that! Jk i'm not that useless. I'm just joking.. Anyway, it seems that the vote for that style of main view hasn't got very far, and we've just seen the reason why. I'll release the opposite one as the default, which is a bit easier, or at least I think it is. Any thoughts on whether it is or not? Also the player can use dual wield swords and faster attack animations, thats actually the default one - I really didn't think about it much, just that the main view looked really cool! EDIT: Basically all the other elements are default, except for minimal format for the news and someone having sent me an image, which was rather hard to copy - the real subject wasn't the best one to start out with either. Good game design is the culmination of both elegant and pragmatic thought. It is a balance that is nonlinear and cannot be absolutely practiced. - Itazuni, The Seventh Portal "I don't know, the thing with the ice was interesting but I don't know if it's worth playing the game over again to find out what happens, considering there's a scenario where you find out we

A turbulent border area with two incompatible cultures, tribal society, and a fratricidal war between the TTP (Al-Qaeda) and the Pakistani army, the region is becoming another kleptocracy. The region is home to more than a million refugees, according to the United Nations. This region of Pakistan, which has no police, is becoming a failed state. Pakistan's government is neither stopping the Pakistani military or anyone else from going there, nor is it preventing the country's spy services or the CIA from going there. In fact, the CIA and ISI (Inter-Services Intelligence) are going there with their own US-built Predators (photo-reconnaissance aircraft) and RQ-170s (the Pentagon's stealthy US-made spy planes). Pakistan is not stopping the CIA, the ISI, the US military or anyone else from going there. Pakistan's Akhtar Mansoor (right) was the Defense Minister from 2007 to 2012. A former military man, he had no problem accepting money from the CIA and the Pakistani military. The US military just got permission to use the empty airfield of the Afghan border town of Spin Boldak. There is no jet base there, but the US military and the Pakistani military can use the runway of the empty military airfield in order to fly drones (and even bombers) into Afghanistan. This was possible a year ago but not now. Pakistan's new army chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa has not authorised it. US air force fighter jets are running out of places to land in Afghanistan because of the war. The Afghan border with Pakistan is a no-fly zone. So the planes have to land at various locations on both sides of the border. The drone flights (note: not the same as Predator and RQ-170) were suspended in October 2015. In October 2016, the head of the Afghan military
