A: There are some free CDJ controllers out there, but I don't know of any that fully match the low-end price tag of the CDJ-2000 series from Digital DJ and Atomix as they have consistently been better for the price they cost. Well, DjcEntertainment has another controller, the CDJ-2000NXS1, a nice upgrade from the DX2000 they previously sold for $500. That still requires good PC equipment (an Intel Core2 Duo or similarly reasonable PC) to work with as you won't be able to use it via USB. All you need to have to connect the controller to your PC via USB are Windows 7 or a later version of Windows and something to read the USB messages from the controller and write them to the PC, and to a lesser degree, something to read and write to the USB devices. It's not
