Like List Show List I have a lot of pictures on my phone, taken at different times, but in different countries. As a memento. I think everyone should take pictures, because it is a memory of the beautiful moments in life. I think that all people of this century are used to mobile technology, we are constantly taking photos, making videos and then we keep all these pictures either in the phone or somewhere else. It seems to me that we should keep all the photos, because this is what helps us remember our memories.
