(2)h2-receptor antagonists and beta(2)-agonists may possess a beneficial effect on the risk of obesity, although the absolute risk reduction is modest.1. field of the invention the present invention relates to air volume flow measurement systems, and more particularly, to an air volume flow measurement system for a ducted heating and cooling system, which includes an air volume flow measurement system utilizing an orifice for sensing an air volume flow rate of the ducted heating and cooling system. 2. description of the related art various types of heating and cooling systems have been used to artificially control temperature, humidity and air circulation of air in an enclosed area. typically, heating and cooling systems are directly coupled to a heat source such as a hot water heater, gas stove, electric heater, or the like, to produce a heated air flow or a cooled air flow to an enclosed area. many heating and cooling systems are installed within air ducts and are used for heating or cooling buildings. 5ec8ef588b
