Irina Bokova, Director-General of UNESCO, and Daphne Koller, co-founder and CEO of Coursera are currently leading the digital transformation of education around the world. Since its inception in 2013, Coursera has brought massive open online courses (MOOCs) to over 100 million students and has issued nearly 450,000 certificates. In addition to its signature platform, Coursera also develops offline experiences in the form of campus-based and in-person communities, as well as its own curriculum and learning assessments. Irina Reyns was born in Moscow. After her family fled the Soviet Union to Germany in 1993, they moved to South Jersey in New Jersey and then settled in Hillsborough where she attends school. Her most recent short story, "What Happened to Anna K," has been hailed by The New Yorker as "thrilling" and "the kind of suspenseful tale that should be read in bed." The story appeared on the New Yorker "Best Books of 2008" list and was long-listed for The Best American Short Stories 2010. Irina Reyns is the author of two previous novels, Shattered (written under the pseudonym Efrain A. Amor) and Gunpowder. Irina Reyns' most recent short story, "What Happened to Anna K," was published in The New Yorker in 2008 and the book will be released in September 2009. Her collection of short stories, Living on the Edge of the World was published in 2005. Her two novels, Shattered and Gunpowder, were published in 2001 and 2002, respectively. Irina Reyns teaches creative writing at the University of Pittsburgh and divides her time between Pittsburgh and Brooklyn. Visit Irina at www.irinareyn.com http://www.irinareyn.com

For those in the mood for a more indulgent spa experience, get a massage or book an appointment for a foot spa. If you looking for a personal service that gives you the quality that Daphne is renowned for, look no further than The Apothecary & Salon. Provide lash extensions, hair and makeup, night treatments, massages, and waxing and get the best possible service for a beautiful price. As for the reason why Daphne was named after an ancient Greek mythological creature, Pandion explains it on her Web site. "I had been studying Daphne. She was a shrub with an uncanny ability to shrug off the worst dangers. She has been a symbol of strength for our family for years. Her name also means quardian or protectress in English. She stands at the center of our home. We chose Daphne after that day in 1845, when Thomas Mundy Peterson, the first black man, voted in Perth Amboy, New Jersey." 5ec8ef588b
