The software lets you predict the date and time of birth of the person as per his/her current time and time zone. Its got all the basic tools and tools that you need to perform the astrology calculations. The timing of the birth of the person can be calculated with an accuracy of about 7-8 minutes. For astro sessions with multiple telescopes, you may decide to set up some kind of schedule with the telescopes going off one by one or in parallel. One way to do it would be to use a SED schedule to initiate the session, followed by an Audio-Video session for a set of telescopes. But that would require having a SED and Audio-Video box for each telescope. Another way is to use two separate SEDs and Audio-Video boxes. It would be reasonable to use one SED for the telescopes that are in the field, and another for when they are not. This would need a "collision-free" method of selecting the exact hour for switching the SEDs and Video boxes from one telescope to the other. This "collision-free" method would not depend on a GUI user, but instead would be implemented using the APP user's command line. In this case, the command would start the session on one telescope, pause it for some seconds, and then switch to the second. If this command is run in the background while a daytime telescope is ready to capture, a night-time telescope will get ready during the pause. For this to work the Video box that is used for the night-time telescope, or any other telescope, must be set to a mode that can track the stars. But if you have a single Video box and you want to use it for multiple telescopes, you need to do some extra work. 5ec8ef588b
