Doing so gives students an inexpensive way to get online on campus. Every Firestick comes with an HDMI cable and power adapter, making it perfect for students looking to watch Netflix and YouTube while on campus. While most students find that a wireless access point that extends their internet connection into the residence halls works best, they are available for purchase for those without such a plan. This doesnt mean you have to be limited to wifi though. With the right cable a student can connect to the router and access the internet via Ethernet at lightning speeds. Where can you buy them The only place you will be able to buy either cable or power adapters is the individual residence hall receptionist. If youre having trouble finding one of these individuals (or have questions about this, please contact the Almanac before you go through the trouble of going to the residence halls) any student in a first-year residence hall room should be able to help you out. Whether you're planning a major upgrade of your existing video source or adding a new device, the first step is to ensure you have the proper cables, adapters, and power supplies to get your new equipment up and running. And don't forget the speaker cables, to listen to that online radio station that you can't get to in your garage. Ridiculous as it may seem, in most cases, the cable repairman can not tell you what type of cable is inside your house, even though he may recognize that all the cables coming into your house and going out are the same cable type. The cable repairman will have to go to his repair truck to look at your wiring, where he will determine the cable type and then test the cable at your outdoor outlets.
