I have the latest version of this plugin and it doesn't support autoreply. Is there a way to configure autoreply in this plugin? For questions that involve knowledge about the theme, we need to provide live support for the user to avoid any "Scam Bots" that appear in the forums. This happens because most of us are from different countries and there are different time zones.

Supporting Live Chat not only helps solve a customer support problem, but saves time for agents. I see. Our LiveChat Plugin comes with a lot of features (for free) which should address most of your concerns. However, just to be clear: we do not use the Slack API. We use our own API, which we will be improving with the planned upgrade. We can do that while you are using our free, unlimited ChatSupport. That should be a solution for you. I didnt find any documentation and was wondering how I can configure it. I have a new project I am going to use the wp live chat support pro nulled 24 to provide live chat support, and I cant find any documentation on configuring the plugin. For example, on Smartsupp, the chat panel displays the chat traffic statistics on the left, and the live support agents can access this information in their dashboard. Just as conversation history lets the agents see what visitors are going to say, its the same with the Smartsupp chat panel. Here at Smartsupp, we strive to provide the best possible service and support to our customers, and we can see how our changes are working for you. We are also eager to hear about your experience with Smartsupp. We want to constantly improve the service to you as a user and as a company, so we always welcome your feedback. We're always happy to hear about the improvements we can make, and we were happy to hear about your positive experience in particular. 5ec8ef588b
